

LIOCHEM, INC.

- BUSINESS TECHNOLOGY CASE STUDY -

THE CLIENT

INDUSTRY: Manufacturing
REVENUE: $50 million
TEAM SIZE: 120 Employees
LOCATIONS: Conyers, Georgia

LioChem is a leading manufacturer of quality printing inks and coatings, plastic colorants and performance materials for EV batteries.

THE SITUATION

- Manufacturer was wanting to keep up with rapidly evolving technology changes throughout the company.
- The IT/IS Coordinator required additional outsourced support to effectively manage the organization's growing demands.
- The company needed to improve essential security measures, exposing employees and sensitive data to potential risks.
- Outdated cabling, connections, and systems were hindering the overall business capabilities.

THE CLIENT'S WORDS

ITVantix has continuously gone out of their way to get to know me, the company, and what it is that we need.

They have worked alongside me on countless major and minor projects – saving me a tremendous amount of time and stress.

Working with ITVantix has been a blessing! I really appreciate the personal touch and attention they provide.

Jeremy Eason
IT/IS Coordinator

HOW DID WE HELP?

Liochem faced an urgent need for enhanced security protocols and faster IT project execution. The company's IT/IS Coordinator required additional support to address evolving business demands effectively.

With MAXX Care Co-Managed IT Services, ITVantix provided seamless collaboration, enhancing infrastructure and security:

- We upgraded fiber & data cabling, improving 35% of their IT framework.
- We implemented Security Information and Event Management ("SIEM"), implemented advanced password policies and strengthened the overall cybersecurity posture.
- We optimized network performance, eliminating rogue devices and resolving IP conflict issues.
- We enhanced facility security & communication with access control, surveillance, paging, and phone system upgrades.

A MAXX Voice customer for over 10 years, Liochem continues to thrive with ITVantix as their Single Source for Technology Support.

ITVantix doesn't just fix IT problems, we provide tailored solutions and comprehensive management.
